(In the space provided below, please explain in detail the reasons for the delay in filing a proper reply)

On December 29, 2003, we filed with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) a patent application for our docket No. CE11591JBE. Attached please find the Express Mail Receipt, Label No. EL 962737413 US, that confirms our filing date. On January 12, 2004, we received our return postcard in which the USPTO allotted Serial Number 10/747,844 and a filing date of December 29, 2003 to this application. Also attached please find a copy of a docketing report for CE11591JBE. In accordance with Motorola policy, a docket report is created for every patent application filed with the USPTO. Our docketing personnel are trained to enter into each appropriate docket report the receipt of all correspondence from the USPTO. In view of this docket report, both the docketing clerk and the responsible Motorola attorney are automatically reminded of all important deadlines. For example, for this patent application, the date the Information Disclosure Statement was filed and the foreign filing deadline were clearly recorded. As such, the training of Motorola's employees and its docketing system are designed to keep us from missing important deadlines.

It is our contention that we did not receive the Notice to File Missing Parts, which the USPTO is claiming was mailed on April 13, 2004. There is no record of this document in either our docketing database or in the physical file folder for this patent application. Because we never received the Notice to File Missing Parts, we submit that our delay in responding to this document was unavoidable pursuant to 37 CFR 1.137(a). As further evidence of the reliability of our docketing system, the Notice of Abandonment and the Petition to Revive were docketed.

In the event the USPTO requires further evidence of Motorola's procedures and docketing records, or if a telephone call would advance the resolution of this case, please feel free to call the attorney of record.

(Please attach additional sheets if additional space is necessary)
